SCOTT AND REID VICTORS IN COUNTY

WON CONTESTS FOR REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR COUNTY OFFICES

BOTH WERE CLEAN CAMPAIGNS

Other Places on Republican County Ticket Were Filled Without Opposition

Complete vote of the republican ticket in Lee county. Scott, 1978; Crabtree, 1204. Thompson, 2073. Badger, 2399. Reid, 1979; Trostle, 1254. Miller, 2007.

Lee county republicans nominated at Thursday's primary: Robert H. Scott for judge, William C. Thompson, county clerk, Warren H. Badger, treasurer, Clarence P. Reid, sheriff, L. W. Miller for superintendent of schools.

Thompson, Badger and Miller had no opposition, and of course were in no danger of defeat.

The contest for the nomination for judge between John B. Crabtree and Robert H. Scott was mainly and clean, but hard fought. Scott's warmest supporters are surprised at the big vote polled by him.

Crabtree carried but three precincts in the entire county. These were the First, Third and Fourth precincts in Dixon. In the Fourth, Crabtree's opponent only 12 votes. Scott carried the city of Dixon by 107 majority. Outside of the city of Dixon Scott carried every precinct. For an untired politician, Crabtree made a splendid run and formed many new acquaintances throughout the county.

Reid's Splendid Run

Deputy Sheriff C. P. Reid came out of the primaries with a vote that even surprised his friends. The last few days there was considerable gossip about a Trostle victory, but when the results of the election became known, it was found that Trostle carried but seven precincts in the county. In Marion township Reid and Trostle broke even. Ashton, Trostle's home, Reid run behind 122 votes. The precincts carried by Trostle were Ashton, Bradford, Brooklyn (2), China, Dixon (2), Reynolds and Viola. Reid's majority over Trostle is 725.

EVENING LECTURES AT PEOPLE'S CHURCH

SERIES OF DISCOURSES TO BE GIVEN THE COMING SUNDAY NIGHTS

Sunday evening lectures are to begin again at the People's church.

For some years it has been the custom of the minister of this church to give each fall and winter a special course of lectures on some general subject of popular interest, literary, scientific or ethical. These lectures are not church services, they are not sermons nor entertainments, but are designed to be brief but serious studies in the subjects they take up.

Last year the course in New Testament Criticism sustained interest throughout a long course of 37 lectures, and was well attended. The course this season will be less academic in its point of view than the last, and is an attempt to get at subjects of a more practical nature. Mr. Martin has named the course Rational Living. The lectures will be non-theological, perfectly free, will be secular in their nature and deal with the moral problems of everyday experience. They will be made up of discussions on such themes as—

The Spirit of Progress.
The Quest for Happiness.
Making a Living.
Books.
Imitations.
Sanctification.
Respect for Women, The Law of Older People.
What modern cities are doing.
Labor Legislation in Europe.
Conservation.
Property, etc., etc.

There will be 24 lectures in the course, each beginning at 7:45 Sunday night. The attention of those who have been attending these lectures is called to the fact that the first will be given next Sunday night.

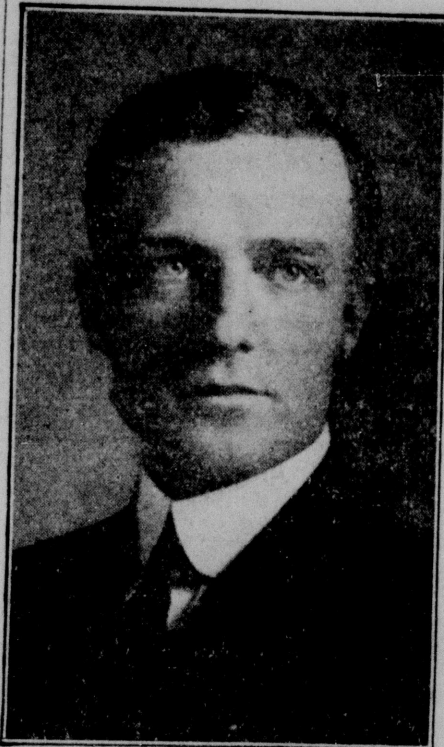

Found Dying on Road

Fred W. Moller, proprietor of a grocery store at Rock Island, is critically ill at St. Anthony's hospital at Rock Island, his condition being due to the effects of three bullet wounds, one in the chest above the heart, and two in the head.

He was found early in the morning lying unconscious in the middle of the road three miles out of Buffalo, Ia. He had $20 when he left home, and whether his wounds are self-inflicted or whether he was shot by a robber cannot be learned, as he is unable to tell a coherent story.

CLIFFE NOMINATED BY SCANT MARGIN

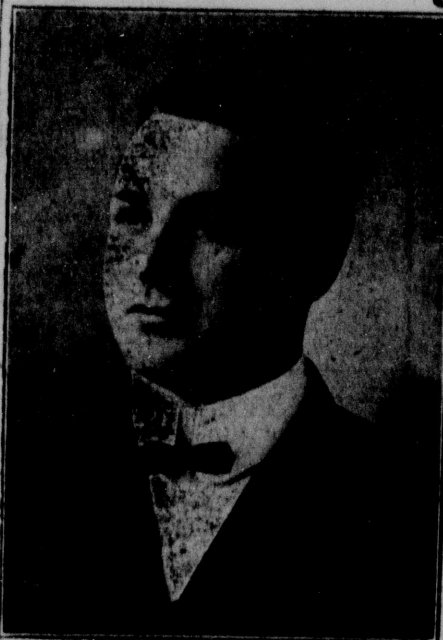

WAS THE CLOSEST EIGHT OF THE PRIMARY ELECTION

MAJORITY OF 23 IN DISTRICT

Chosen Over Gray to Represent This District in the State Senate

Late this afternoon changes in the returns place the nomination of Cliffe in the doubtful column. It will require the official count to decide the nomination of state senator.

Hon. Adam C. Cliffe, Sycamore, DeKalb county, who is now serving his first term in the Illinois house of representatives, defeated Hon.

HON. ADAM C. CLIFFE

Republican nominee for state senator Mr. Cliffe is a lawyer. He was born at Sycamore and is a member of the law firm of Cliffe & Cliffe. He is a graduate of the Sycamore high school and attended Northwestern University law school; was admitted to the bar in 1896 and has been in active practice since that time. He was principal of schools at Hincley, Shabbona and Franklin Grove, and has been on the board of education of Sycamore for the past ten years. He is married and has one son. Mr. Cliffe was elected to the house of representatives in 1908.

John H. Gray, Morrison, Whiteside county, also first term in the house of representatives, for the republican nomination of state senator, by the small majority of 23 votes.

It was impossible to get final results on this part of the ticket until this morning. At midnight when nearly all of the complete returns were in, the figures for state senatorial candidates were running neck and neck, but a few votes apart when reports from each precinct were given in.

At midnight, however, a telephone message was received from Dr. Gray, from the Sentinel office at Morrison, that he conceded the nomination of Cliffe by a small margin.

Complete Returns
Complete returns for state senator follow:

	Gray	Cliffe
Lee	1701	1443
Whiteside	2083	1315
DeKalb	1139	3147

Total 5583 5605
Cliffe's majority 23
The contest for state senator was most hotly contested, beginning at the first commencement of the campaign. The supporters of each candidate did not cease working until the polls closed.

Cliffe's nomination was a surprise to everybody, as the impression was that Gray would be elected.

Tourtillott 11373 1-2
Abbott, 8982
Bjelland, 5292
Harris, 6111.

LOOK MIGHTY GOOD

Peaches and cream! Did you ever hear that expression? Well, you wouldn't care for the cream if you could have one of those peaches sent by F. J. Daniels from North Yakima, Wash., to his wife in this city. A week ago Mr. Daniels packed and sent the peaches and they are as good today as when picked. They are large as good sized apples and of a most delicious flavor. Mr. Daniels contemplates buying a fruit ranch in the west.

AS OUR GRANDFATHERS LIVED

An Exhibit of Actual Pioneer Life—Lincoln and Webster Relics.

Old Settlers and all who are interested in the history of early days in Illinois will find much enjoyment in visiting the exhibit in the Northeast corner of the Dome Building at the Illinois State Fair. It illustrates industrial methods on the farm and in the household in the days before the steam thrasher, the sewing machine and the countless labor saving devices revolutionized the whole system of production.

This exhibit, which has been collected for the Fair by Hon. W. O. Converse, of Springfield, will contain besides a notable collection of farm and household implements and furniture of pioneer life, a number of interesting relics bearing upon the history of the prominent people of the early days. One is a rifle carried by Andrew El. Hott, and inherited from his ancestors, with which he shot deer on the site of the Lincoln Monument, and it will be supported upon hickory forks cut from the very spot where Abraham Lincoln was rolled down hill in a barrel at Old Salem by some of his rollicking companions in the good old rough and ready days. A stone from the old mill which stood at or near the same spot, which was used for grinding the grain of the early settlers. The desk used by Lincoln, when a member of the legislature, and other objects connected with the life of the great emancipator.

A plow used by Daniel Webster and the ax that blazed the way for the Erie Canal will also be shown.

Mr. Converse is especially pleased at being able to exhibit the only real surviving prairie plow he has been able to find in the country. It was built to be pulled through the ground by from four to six yoke of oxen, had a guiding wheel in the front end of the huge beam and a rude lever for elevating or depressing the point of the plowshare. It was procured in Henry County by Hon. George Anthony, a member of the State Board of Agriculture. Actual demonstrations will be given by old settlers of the methods of using such old fashioned implements as the spinning and loom, cooking over the open fire, baking in Dutch ovens, making dipped and molded candles and doing countless things that are now done with improved machinery or purchased ready made from the factories.

A detail from the G. A. R. will conduct a camp fire illustrating the life of soldiers in the great civil war.

Ugly Sores Cured Quick

PILES, ULCERS, ECZEMA, FISSURES, CARBUNCLES, BOILS, SALT RHEUM, WOUNDS, ERUPTIONS AND STINGS OF ANY KIND DISAPPEAR LIKE MAGIC.

Marvelous New Discovery That Is Arousing World-wide Interest and Curing Worst Cases in 24 Hours.

A Week Ago I Couldn't Look Anyone in the Face.

A rusty nail scratch has killed an army of people. And yet a new and wonderful species of earth mined in Mexico cures like magic every species of sore, even to cancerous lumps. A carbuncle simply dries up so quick that you are astonished. An old running sore is given a magic touch and years of misery are gone over night. A suspicious cancerous lump that has hung over the mind for years, is gone in a flash.

C. C. Copeland of Pittsburg, Kas., had a nasty old tender itching ulcer of salt rheum. At Mercy Hospital, Chicago, he says it made the faces of Dr. Murphy and the sisters fairly wrinkle to see it. And yet in a short time Cuticlay cured the sore and all burning, itching and pain ceased from the very instant Cuticlay was applied.

It seems like overconfidence to say such things, but Cuticlay is a wonder of nature. It is curing in 24 hours what has defied the best trained skill for years and years. You merely apply the dry powdered Cuticlay to any sore spot and the relief is instant. The cure begins then and there. Cuticlay is a strange product of nature. Nothing is added to it, nothing taken away, and yet all the ingenuity of medical skill since the beginning of time never produced anything that will do the work of Cuticlay. It certainly has a magic touch.

You can get a large can of Cuticlay at any drug store for ten cents, or will be mailed upon receipt of price. If you wish to first demonstrate what the wonderful Cuticlay will do for you, upon the receipt of six cents in stamps to pay cost of packing, etc., we will mail you a large trial package. The Cuticlay Co., Chicago, Ill.

It is sold and highly recommended in Dixon by Campbell & Son.

BOUTELL IS BEATEN IN TOGA RACE

Loses By Big Margin to Gansbergen

JOSEPH G. CANNON WINS

Lee O'Neill Browne Is Again Re- nominated For Legislature.

GEORGE R. FOSS IS DEFEATED

Men Charged In Bribery Cases Nearly All Victorious.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The renomination of Joseph G. Cannon for congress by a generous margin over Dr. Downs, the overwhelming defeat of Representative Henry S. Boutell, standpatter, in the Ninth district by F. H. Gansbergen, insurgent; the probable defeat of Representative George R. Foss in the Tenth district, and the renomination of nearly all the legislators who were charged with participation in the "legislative jackpot," are the striking features of the Illinois state wide primary election.

Boutelle lost the nomination by over 1,000 votes.

Representative James R. Mann, against whom a strong fight was made by two insurgents, Joseph R. Burres and Louis J. Behan, in the Second district has won. His friends did heroic work for him at the polls, believing he will be a formidable candidate for speaker of the house to succeed Uncle Joe Cannon.

Robert E. Wilson, of Chicago, under indictment for perjury and charged by other legislators in court with having distributed part of the "jackpot," is renominated by a positive majority.

John Broderick is also renominated. Edward D. Shurtleff, speaker of the house, is believed to be renominated. David E. Shanahan of Chicago, an old member of the house, who has come in for a great deal of criticism wins easily.

In other congressional districts the results are: Madden, renominated for the First district; W. R. Wilson in the Third; Adolph L. Sabath, Fifth; Frederick Lundy, Seventh; Charles Fuller, Twelfth; James McKinney, Fourteenth; George W. Prince, Fifteenth; Joseph W. Graff, Sixteenth; John A. Sterling, Seventeenth; William R. McKinley, Nineteenth; Henry T. Rainey, Twentieth; James M. Graham, Twenty-First; and N. B. Thistlewood, Twenty-Fifth.

In the Eleventh, Col. Ira C. Copely is nominated over George W. Conn. Jr., as the candidate of the regulars. Early indications are that John McKenzie won the nomination over I. F. Edwards in the Thirteenth.

Heavy vote, disorder and several arrests on allegations of fraud marked the first test of the new primary law in Chicago. It was estimated at the office of the election commissioners that the total vote was but little less than the 200,000 prophesied—perhaps 185,000. Commissioner Hudson believed.

Much disorder and several cases of fraud, actual and attempted, accompanied heavy voting in practically all parts of the city.

Arrests for alleged frauds took place in the Second and Twenty-Second wards. That in the Second was for vote buying and that in the Twenty Second for repeating.

CALEB POWERS ELECTED

Man Who Was Tried Five Times for Murder Wins Victory.

Receives Nomination for Congress in Eleventh District in Kentucky for Seat in House.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 16.—Caleb Powers, tried five times for murder, has been elected to congress in the Eleventh district. He laid in jail eight years after the assassination of William Goebel. He has defeated Congressman Edwards for the nomination, which is equivalent to election.

WOODROW WILSON

Nominated for Governor by Democrats in New Jersey.

COPYRIGHT BY J. E. PURDY

Edwards did not begin an aggressive campaign until too late.

His friends had felt that Powers would not persist in running the race to a finish, but soon it was found that the country people were for him and then it was virtually too late for Edwards to muster his forces. Powers made a house to house campaign.

His plea was that his long confinement in the jails was a matter of political persecution on the part of the Democrats, because Goebel was killed. Late dispatches indicate that Powers has defeated Edwards by from 5,000 to 10,000. Edwards is at his home in London and admits his defeat.

NOMINATE WOODROW WILSON

President of Princeton Heads Democratic Ticket in New Jersey.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 16.—President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton, was nominated for governor by the Democrats of New Jersey in their state convention. Dr. Wilson won handily on the first ballot with a vote of 749 1/2, 41 1/2 more than he needed.

Frank S. Katzenbach of Trenton, who ran against Gov. Fort two years ago, received 372 votes. Ex-Senator George S. Silzer ran third with 210. Mayor O. H. Wittmann of Jersey City, got 76 1/2, 74 1/2 of which slipped from Leader Davis Grip in the Hudson county delegation.

GRAY HEADS STATE TICKET

Selected by Democrats in Minnesota as Candidate for Governor.

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—James Gray, former mayor of Minneapolis, was chosen by the Democrats as their candidate for governor. John Lind nominated by the state convention which met in Minneapolis July 28, was present at the state committee meeting. Lind declined to make the race.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Lawler, who made the nomination, brought the meeting to its feet by declaring that the Democratic party of this state had no brief for the brewers or the railroads.

STOKES STILL IN THE LEAD

New Jersey Race for Senate Is Very Close—Returns Still Coming.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 16.—With 200 or more districts still to be heard from, indications are that Ex-Gov. Stokes was the popular choice for United States senator at Tuesday's primaries by a plurality of about 4,000 over Ex-Gov. Murphy and Representative C. N. Fowler.

Although the three-cornered fight is so close that the missing districts may turn the result in favor of any one of the candidates, the gains by Stokes point to his being high man.

VOTE IS SMALL IN FREEPORT

Indications Point to Nomination of McKenzie, Rawleigh and Rigney.

Freeport, Ill., Sept. 16.—The early vote in this district was very small. Great interest is shown, however, in the nomination of Tiffany of Freeport, and McKenzie of Elizabeth, for congress and Rawleigh of Freeport, Rigney of Red Oak, and Gillespie to represent from the Twelfth senatorial district.

Indications point to the nomination of McKenzie, for congress, and Rawleigh and Rigney for the legislature.

CLEVELAND GROWS RAPIDLY

Population of City Increases 178,895 During Last Ten Years.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The population of Cleveland, O., is 560,663, an increase of 178,895, or 46.9 per cent, as compared with 381,768 in 1900.

The population of Joliet, Ill., is 34,670, an increase of 5,317, or 18.1 per cent as compared with 29,353 in 1900.

PRESIDENT PLANS TO REUNITE PARTY

Intents to Restore Federal Patronage to Insurgents.

WILL TREAT LEADERS ALIKE

Views Are Outlined in Letter to Politician in Iowa—LaFollette, Bristow and Others Placed Back on List by Action.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 16.—President Taft has taken the initiative in an effort to reunite the Republican party. He announced, through his secretary, his intention of restoring federal patronage to all insurgents. This announcement is regarded here as an expression of willingness on the part of the president to align himself more closely with the progressive forces. It amounts to an acknowledgment by the president that the progressives in several states now constitute the party.

The president and his advisors fully realize that his action will be construed in some quarters as a bid for progressive support and as an effort to follow the trail blazed by Col. Roosevelt. On the contrary, the president, it is contended, is actuated chiefly by a desire to accord to the progressives what he regards as their due now that they have been sustained in the primaries and in the nominating conventions.

"The people have spoken," says the president's secretary, "and as we face the fall elections the question must be settled by Republicans. Of every shade of opinion whether the differences of the last session shall be perpetuated or shall be forgotten."

The president's attitude, as his secretary frankly outlines, it is that Mr. Taft had cut off the patronage of several of the insurgents because he believed in the last session of congress that they were obstructing his efforts to fulfill the party's platform pledges.

Some of the president's advisors have contended that the removal of the ban at this late date would do more harm than good; that it would lay progressive representatives elected in November open to the charge of having finally thrown their support to President Taft because offices were handed to them.

Notwithstanding their arguments the president himself gave the question careful consideration, and finally authorized his secretary to embody his views in a letter to a politician in Iowa. It was this letter which was made public. The name of the man to whom the letter was sent was not given out, but it is supposed to have been one of the regular Republicans in Iowa who have been dispensing patronage over the heads of Senators Cummins and Dolliver.

LaFollette, who won overwhelmingly at the senatorial primaries a few days ago, is one of the men who are put back on the president's patronage list.

Senator Bristow, of Kansas, is another insurgent who fell under the Taft ban and who has been making a great outcry.

LANDSLIDE KILLS SEVEN

Scores Wounded When Mountain Side Destroys Village.

Heavy Rain Cause of Disaster in Which Abanilla Is Destroyed—Death List May Grow.

Madrid, Sept. 16.—Seven persons were killed and scores wounded in a great landslide at Abanilla, according to a report which was brought to this city. It is believed that later reports will swell the death list.

Heavy rains caused the landslide. The earth of a mountain side, loosened by the storms, suddenly gave way and nearly the whole village was swept into the valley.

The meager details received here stated that workmen are employed in clearing away the debris, and expectations are that other bodies will be recovered.

FIFTEEN MILES OF WEINERS

50,000 Pounds of Wieners for the Various Iowa Institutions.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 16.—The state board of control has let the contract for fifteen miles of wiener sausage for consumption in the various state institutions.

The contract calls for over 50,000 pounds of sausage. Laid end to end the wieners would reach fifteen miles. The contract for meat, butter, fresh beef, flour, etc., totals $225,000.

The Coyote.

The coyote is the little brother of the Indian. When the buffalo vanished from the plains the Indian shot his rifle into the air, wrapped his blanket closer about him and came into the reservation to grow fat and unpicturesque under federal auspices. When the jack rabbit and molly cottontail vanish from the plains and foothills the howl of the last coyote will sink into silence beyond the great divide. Until that far day arrives, however, hang the bacon high, for while the rabbit remains the most skillful four legged forager the world ever knew will bay at the moon by night and just keep out of rifle range by day. The coyote knows more about traps than a Canadian "voyageur," is an expert on strychnine and never falls for the deadfall. He is rather fond of lambs and calves, but rabbits are the meat of this phantom highlander, and, as "Diamond Field" Jack Davis would say, "where two or three of these are gathered together there you will find the coyote, seeking to stow one of them into his midst."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The "Don't Need To" Theory

In the recent debate at Reno Mr. James Jeffries failed to convince Mr. John Johnson. Some seven or eight years ago Mr. Jeffries was the leading man in his line of work. Business was good and his profits were big.

Having all the money he could handle at the time, he concluded to take a rest. To be sure he planned to get in the field again at the proper time.

But everything was rosy and there really seemed no good and sufficient reason why he should spend so many hours a day keeping his muscles lithe and strong and his mind good and his heart and nerves in trim.

Eventually the meeting with Mr. Johnson was arranged. Mr. Jeffries was still tolerably content with what he had done.

(Brother, a has-done is about as bad as a has-been.)

Mr. Jeffries did not care to stand up in the training ring and punch and take punches. He did not see any necessity of practicing side-steps and feints and rushes.

He knew all about them. Why, seven years ago he had done all of that he ever needed to do.

Mr. Johnson did not overlook the boxing and the wrestling and the clinching and the sidestepping, etc.

As a result, Mr. Jeffries received Mr. Johnson's compliments on the point of the jaw and his business career closed.

Advertising a business is the training of that business. Advertising keeps a business healthy.

It tones up its liver, strengthens its biceps, steadies its heart and keeps its nerves in order.

Once in a while a man decides he is doing so much business that he can stop advertising for a while and run on momentum.

Momentum is the gradual process toward a full stop.

The momentum business is usually prematurely full stopped by the straight left jab of the well-trained competitor who finds his opening in the fifteenth round.

If you want to stay in business stay in the advertising field.

No matter how much business you are doing, keep up the energy that makes it.

You might as well cut off your legs because you are running well in a foot race as to cut off your advertising because your business is too good.

You might as well tell the insurance man that you are so healthy you will drop the policy for a few years as to stop advertising because the orders are piling up.

"Don't need to" is the eventual preliminary to "Can't do it."

The only man who doesn't need to advertise is the man who has retired from business.

The only policy holder who doesn't need to pay his premiums is dead.

Mr. Jeffries doesn't need to train any more. He is licked.

Hardin and Dr. Lewis Caris will not be seen by their brethren at the conference. Both are disabled and live in California, and the boys will look in vain for John C. Foster, as he is in Seattle and unable to be present at this session.

When the secretary shall call the roll John G. Armstrong, Samuel C. Leavell, John Nate, William H. Smith, Thomas R. Strobridge and Samuel D. Swartz will not respond, as they have been touched by the "pale horse and his rider," and passed over the mystic river into the land of the immortals. We shall speak of these valiant men in another article. They will be missed from the conference floor.

No District Changes

Bishop Cranston will not be called upon to make any changes at this conference in the boundaries of the several districts. Neither is it anticipated that any of the district superintendents will be disturbed. They all seem to be doing well in their present positions and are in favor with both the ministers and the laity.

Rockford district, which is so bulky and unwieldy in its present form may not be readjusted at this session of the conference, but will be in no distant day. No district superintendent can meet the responsibilities of his office in distributing his time and service over this awkwardly arranged territory so as to give entire satisfaction. But Dr. A. T. Traveller in his vigorous manhood and mighty energy has excelled himself in superintending this great district, and he has met the approval of both ministry and laity in his arduous duties.

AREOPLANES AND AUTOMOBILES

Wright Bros.' Machines Fly High—Barney Oldfield.

The aeroplanes of the Wright Bros. of Dayton, O., which will appear every forenoon and afternoon at the Illinois State Fair are not mere "gliders" which skim a few feet above the earth. The machines the Wrights are sending to Springfield the first week in October are the real thing. They fly. The Wright Bros. forfeit $1,000 a day for failure to fly. They are the sensation of the world, and everybody should see it. The first flights are Saturday, Oct. 1—Auto-Aero Day.

Barney Oldfield, the greatest living auto driver with his monster auto the 200-horse power Benz, will positively appear every forenoon during the Fair. Oldfield brings a line of three cars and drivers with him and hotly contested races will be given every day. Automobile racing all day Saturday, Oct. 1, when $3,000 will be given in solid silver cups and cash including trophies of sterling silver by St. Nicholas hotel of Illinois Watch Co. and a cash stake of $500 by the Franklin Life Insurance Co. for one event.

The climax of this day will be a five-mile race between Hoxsey in a Wright biplane and Oldfield.

In the transference of real estate the question frequently arises whether buyer or seller is liable for taxes falling due on or about the time of the transfer. Taxes due and payable prior to time of sale constitute an incumbrance on the property and must be paid before clear title can be given. Taxes collectible after sale must be paid by the purchaser unless there is specific agreement to the contrary, as the land is always liable for the taxes, and the one who holds title is therefore accountable.

It's a pretty stiff proposition trying to do anything for the agricultural standpoint—the well satisfied with the old order chap—who can't be induced by any sort of persuasion to take an up to date agricultural paper, to attend a farmers' institute or dairy meeting and who has not time for balanced rations, milk testers or the many other aids to intelligent farm management. In time this kind will die off and others more alert will take their places.

Victim of Their Fear.
 "One thing that makes me positively sick," remarked a young matron vehemently to her husband, "is to have guests sit all through a meal and merely toy with the food as Mrs. So-and-so did last night. And she is the third dinner guest we have had lately who did the same thing. They are afraid of getting stout, and, although they accept invitations to meals, they never eat anything that isn't on their regular diet lists, and the consequence is that the hostess sits up and sees portion after portion of her well prepared food going to waste. It almost spoils the evening for me, and I shan't ask any one of the three here again—unless, by chance, they happen to get so thin they won't mind eating a square meal."—New York Press.

When Finished.
 Busy persons, forced to defend themselves from interminable talkers who have little to say, can appreciate a hint to which Henry IV. of France once resorted. A parliamentary deputy called upon him and made a long speech. The king listened patiently for a time, then he decided that his visitor would do well to condense his remarks. He took him by the hand and led him to where they could see the gallery of the Louvre.
 "What do you think of that building? When it is finished it will be a good thing, will it not?"
 "Yes," replied the man of many words, not guessing what was coming next.
 "Well, monsieur, that is just the way with your discourse," was the king's mild observation.

HORNED MEN IN CALIFORNIA.

Skeletons of Prehistoric Warriors Disclose Novel Projections.
 Anthropologists of Pacific coast universities are endeavoring to discover to what age the prehistoric human bones that have recently been unearthed in the Topanga canyon, California, should be ascribed. The absence of the bones of women or children is considered proof that the skeletons are those of warriors.
 Thirty complete skeletons have been unearthed. The foreheads are low and retreating, the jawbones prominent and the cheek bones high. The bones indicate that their owners were about the size of the average man of this day.
 It is believed that they are the bones of old men, because the teeth are worn down to about what must have been near the line of the gums. Just above and in front of the ears each has a horn-like development three inches long.
 It usually takes a spell of rainy weather in spring or fall to cause teamsters to be sufficiently public spirited to take the center of the road and work down the dirt and gravel put there for grading purposes.
 In no case is it truer that "the best is the cheapest" than in the purchase of tile for permanent systems of drainage. What is true of the tile applies with equal force to the kind of help which is secured for laying out and putting in such a system.

Proud of His Prospects.

Louis Pierre was one of a number of Canadian immigrants who settled at Fitzgerald, Ga. As he spoke both French and English he rapidly became a man of importance and was successively elected to the offices of city marshal, coroner and justice of the peace. A dispute arose between the French and English settlers as to the superiority of the United States over the Canadian provinces. They finally agreed to leave the decision to Judge Pierre, who handed down this decision:

"Yost take a look at me. First day I came to this country, I was a poor fellow, but now I am a judge. I would be ze long time in Canada, I fore dey image me queen."—Circle Magazine.

A Diet of Wild Honey.

Wild honey as a change is an agreeable sweetener, but after a few days constantly partaking of it the European palate rejects it as nauseous and almost disgusting. Our experience extended over a fortnight, during which period our food consisted solely of it and maize. It has escaped the Biblical commentators that one of the principal hardships that John the Baptist must have undergone was his diet of wild honey.—Geographic Magazine.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 16.—Leslie Hogan of Benton Harbor, Mich., has filed suit in the federal court here for $50,000 because of injuries sustained while taking a Turkish bath in the Oliver House at South Bend. J. D. Oliver, trustee for the Oliver estate, is made defendant.

The complaint alleges Hogan was burned in the steam room when a pipe exploded, enveloping his body in blasts of steam and literally cooking his hands and arms. Hogan is declared to be crippled for life.

DR. COOK ON WAY TO THE ARCTIC?

Steamer Reports Speaking Boat With Bradley Aboard.

IS MUM CONCERNING DR. COOK

Financial Backer of the Alleged Pole Discoverer on Way to Etah for Explorer's Records and Instruments.

Copenhagen, Sept. 16.—The Danish government steamer Hans Egede arrived here with the news that John R. Bradley, the financial backer of Dr. Frederick A. Cook's north polar expedition, was on his way to Etah to obtain the much-talked-of records and instruments which Cook said he had left at that Eskimo settlement north-east of Greenland.

The captain of the steamer believes that Dr. Cook is with Bradley, but gives no particular reason for this belief.

The Hans Egede, upon which the explorer traveled to civilization after his alleged discovery of the north pole, fell in with a yacht at Godhavn, a Danish settlement on the south coast of Disco Island, Greenland, and in the course of exchanges between the masters it was learned that Bradley was aboard the yacht.

The pole-hunt promoter admitted his identity and explained that he was bound for Etah to recover whatever had been left there by Dr. Cook. He refused, however, to deny or confirm the report that he was accompanied by the explorer.

The government vessel also brings the information that two missionaries, who are working among the Eskimos, who accompanied Cook on his expedition, say that these Eskimos insist that the doctor reached the north pole, as he claims, prior to its discovery by Commander Peary.

LAKES-TO-GULF WATERWAY

Subject Is Under Discussion by the Board of Engineers.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The board of engineers recently appointed to consider the question of the feasibility of the gulf-to-the-lakes waterway project held its initial meeting at the war department office and outlined a general course of procedure.

Members of the board who have not inspected the Illinois river decided to do so at once, and the board will take steps to consult with Governor Deneen with a view to co-operation in the matter. A preliminary report must be presented to the war department by Nov. 1.

HARMON MAY REMOVE MAYOR

Citizens Protest Manner of Handling Car Strike by Marshall.

Columbus, O., Sept. 16.—A delegation of the German-American Alliance visited Gov. Harmon in an effort to secure the suspension of Mayor Marshall for alleged inefficiency in handling the strike situation.

Charges of malfeasance and inefficiency were presented to the governor, but he refused to receive them unless offered with petitions for the removal of the mayor, as the law prescribes. The German-Americans say the governor promised to remove the mayor if the charges were substantiated by three witnesses in each charge presented.

A Dean Ramsay Story.

Dean Ramsay's memoirs contain an anecdote of an old woman of Starbuck. Just before her death she solemnly instructed her grandnephew, "Willy, I'm deen, and as y'll hae the charge o' a' I have, mind, now, that as much whisky is to be used at my funeral as there was at my baptism."

Willy, having no record of the quantity consumed at the baptism, decided to give every mourner as much as he wished, with the result that the funeral procession, having to traverse ten miles to the churchyard on a short November day, arrived only at nightfall. Then it was discovered that the mourners, halting at a wayside inn, had rested the coffin on a dike and left it there when they resumed their journey. The corpse was a day late in arriving at the grave.

NEGRO BARBER IS ATTACKED BY MOB

Claimed to Love White Girl and Demanded Sum of Money.

RESIDENTS PREDICT LYNCHING

Officer Protects Prisoner from Angry Citizens Who Hurl Stones at Negro Under Arrest—More Trouble Is Feared.

York, Pa., Sept. 16.—James Yollets, a colored barber of Wrightsville, was attacked by a mob of several hundred persons who made a strenuous effort to lynch him because he had sent a Black Hand letter to Miss Helen Detweiler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Detweiler, prominent residents of Berouh. The negro was slightly injured by the mob, but he was finally lodged in the Berouh lock-up by Constables Wilson and McCauley, who had to fight their way to the prison.

In his letter to Miss Detweiler the negro after stating that he was in love with her, demanded that she place $25 at a certain place on the Detweiler farm or forfeit her life. Miss Detweiler, as well as her parents, were greatly alarmed and decided that they would do as the letter requested.

Going to the place designated in the letter Mr. Detweiler and his daughter were in the act of depositing the money when they saw a negro standing in a cornfield watching their actions. Mr. Detweiler started after the colored man, but he was too fleet of foot and escaped. Miss Detweiler recognized the negro as Yollets and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest. News of the negro's threats spread like wildfire and when the constables took him into custody a crowd collected and there were cries of "lynch him; give him justice now." Some threw stones at him, some of which struck him. The residents, it is feared, may attempt to take him from the officers when they bring him to the county jail.

Mr. Hardy is the son of T. M. Hardy, wealthy tobacco warehouse man of Rockford. The couple will live in that city.

NEW PARTY IS PLAN OF WEST.

Conservation Is Cause, Says Governor of Wyoming.

FORESTRY SERVICE RAPPEL.

Work Failure So Far and Retarder of States' Development Is Brooks' Assertion—Same Rights as Older Commonwealths Have Enjoyed Demanded by Interested States.

A political revolution which will be participated in by almost the entire west and will probably result in the formation of a new political party, but which may give the Democrats a victory in national elections, was prophesied by Governor B. B. Brooks of Wyoming "recently should government control of the natural resources of the country be persisted in by conservationists and maintained by the Republican party."

"The proposition of deriving federal revenue from any of our physical resources is most repugnant," said Governor Brooks, "and if persisted in will cause a revolution in western politics. We are progressive out there, but we want progress along the line of law and do not want a bureaucratic ruling."

Differs With Roosevelt.

Governor Brooks' reasons for this feeling among the public land states were that the western people believe state control of natural resources would mean better protection for the resources themselves and closer guardianship of the rights of the people. In his statement he took exceptions to many of the opinions of Colonel Roosevelt as expressed in his Denver speech, severely scored the present forestry service and declared government control of resources had resulted in all the abuses that have caused the conservation movement.

"There is a sentiment in the west," he said, "that we have been misrepresented; that in our ambitions and development we permit fraudulent acquisition of natural resources like coal and oil, timber and water power, whereas we are bitterly opposed to it, and all the frauds have occurred under the federal government and with the states standing by powerless to take any action, having no rights in the matter."

"In Wyoming with our water it is different, because under the state constitution Wyoming was given actual ownership of all water. We can't part title with it, and we have passed strict laws under which we permit its use by a sort of license system for beneficial purposes only. We feel that by this able administration we have demonstrated clearly the worth of state supervision and if given equal powers of supervision in regard to timbers and minerals could show equal success in handling and managing them."

Federal Leasing Opposed.

"One thing is sure—the west will oppose the leasing of the remaining public lands by the federal government, because it is sure to interfere with settlement. Moreover, we will insist upon absolute state supervision of all water power privileges."

"The people in the east have no conception of the feeling that exists against the forestry service as it has been carried out so far. It has included a great deal of land that is far more valuable for settlement and agricultural purposes than for timber and has universally restricted grazing to such an extent that the mountain country is covered with a dense lot of dead grass, so that when a fire gets started it is very difficult to check it, whereas in the old days the open spaces in the forests were grazed closely and fire couldn't spread from one section to another."

"In the west we still have millions of acres of public lands inviting settlement. Our land offices are busier than ever. New settlers are flocking by the thousands, and all are welcome. In properly settling this vast territory we believe in sticking to the Lincoln policy, which has been endorsed by public opinion and tested by experience."

Wants Land Settled.

"That policy has been to facilitate in every possible way the acquisition of the public lands by the people, both that homes may be made and that private enterprise may employ itself in the development of mineral and other natural resources."

"We simply ask and expect the same rights and privileges in building our new states as have been enjoyed by all the older states in the Union. We want practical conservation, with the largest possible measure of state supervision, under whatever limitation may be necessary to guard against any possible misuse or monopoly."

Argentina Cable Rates Drop.

The first direct cable between Argentina and Europe was opened on June 3. The other cable company at once reduced its rates to the United States by 15 cents a word.

With the short crop of hay which was raised in so many sections this year there ought to be a demand at good prices for all the surplus bright well cured corn fodder which the fore-hand man will secure.

The End of the Summer

By ELIZABETH ROSE.

"Who could want heaven to be more perfect than a day in June!" exclaimed the man, stretched lazily upon the grass, and he looked up with a sigh of content at the girl in the hammock.

"Who, indeed," she responded, sympathetically. "If it could but always be summer, and June!"

"Always this June, with the flowers and the grass and the green things, and you and I here together," he suggested.

"We should stagnate, and we should grow very tired of each other."

"Not I. I should be perfectly happy if I remained here forever, provided you remained with me."

"I do not agree with you. Happiness itself would become monotonous, and we should long for a discord, just for the sake of a change. We should pine away longing for a good old-fashioned November drizzle. I should wear my heart out waiting for an opportunity to wear my sable furs, and your limbs would become stiff for want of a good ball game, or a snowball fight, and all the other good things that do not belong to June."

"How very practical you are, and at such a time, too!"

"Not at all. On the contrary, I am very romantic; but one cannot live on a continuous diet of sentiment and romance. It is very appropriate and delightful in the summer time, when everybody and everything is glad and happy, but in the winter one needs more substantial things. If it were raining heavily at this moment, and you were cold and wet and tired, would you still be content because I shared your plight?"

"Please don't; I detest the subjunctive. I only know that I want you very badly," he said tenderly. "I need you."

"And yet, a month ago you had never seen me. Singular that your need developed in so short a time."

"Necessity knows no law," he retorted glibly.

"You are flippant," she answered. "I have heard men talk like this before. You are a selfish lot. Unfortunately, I am not a 'summer girl'; I hate flirting and I hate flattery."

She rose, with a laugh. "However," she added, sweeping him a courtesy, with a tinge of sarcasm, "I thank you for a very entertaining afternoon."

"Ah, don't go!" he pleaded, springing to his feet. "You will not deny me the privilege of defending myself against such an accusation. Little girl," he said, taking the brown hands in his, "you may believe me when I tell you that I am not flirting with you, nor am I flattering you when I say that you are the dearest, sweetest little comrade, and that these weeks have been the happiest I have ever known, because they were spent with you. With all my heart I mean it when I say I love you, and I want you, not for a 'summer girl,' but for an all year round girl, a girl who can winter with me in the absence of the sunshine and the flowers and the birds, and who can love and cheer me just the same in the November drizzle, when the skies are gray and heavy, as she can in June, when it is so easy to love and be happy. I really want you, will you come?"

"Am I the first to whom you have extended the invitation?" she asked, saucily.

"The very first, little girl. I have been waiting for you for years."

"Indeed; and during all those years you have never cared for anybody?"

"I never cared for anybody as I care for you. I never loved anybody so much as I love you, and I never thought of marrying until I met you. As the poet says, my heart has shed its outer leaves to give you all the rest. And you?" he asked anxiously.

"I have believed myself to be in love dozens of times, and it has been very pleasant for the time being, but I have always outgrown it."

"And you are quite sure there is nobody else now except me?"

"There has never been anyone quite like you."

"You are silent this evening. Is there anything troubling you? Can I help you?"

"You are the only one who can," he answered drearily.

"Tell me. You know there is nothing I would not do for you."

He looked at her, half eagerly, half tenderly. "You will think me a cad and a brute," he said.

"You may be assured I shall not. Please tell me."

"You will hate me, but I am going to ask you to release me from our engagement."

The girl's face flushed then paled. She looked into his eyes earnestly for a moment then dropped her own. "Gladly," she replied, looking up with a bright smile. "Do not trouble to explain, I know. You no longer care for me, and you think it would be best."

"You are a mind reader," he said with relief. "How did you know?"

"It is easy to guess what one would like to guess."

"You are glad; you wanted this to happen?" he said in amazement.

"I think as you do, that it is better it should end."

"And you are not angry with me?" he asked doubtfully.

"Certainly not," she answered promptly. "Why should I be angry? I release you gladly. We all make mistakes, and it is better to rectify them when we can before it is too late. I am pleased to be freed from the engagement."

"May I ask if you made a mistake when you said you loved me a few months ago?" he said curiously.

"Did you make a mistake when you told me how much you cared, and how much you needed me? May not a woman also make a mistake? I release you most willingly. What more would you have?"

"But I thought you loved me. I remember your very words; you said you never knew anybody quite like me," and he laughed a trifle bitterly.

"It is true. I never have known anybody quite like you. But things look different to one in the city, without the flowers and the birds and the 'green things.' However, since we have come to an agreeable understanding let us part friends. Good-by!" and she held out her hand.

"You mean it?" he said, taking it in his own.

"Certainly. I am not in the habit of lying."

A week later he returned. "I have come to say I am sorry for what I said last time I was with you. I made a great mistake. I love you just the same, dear; I have always loved you and I want you to take me back. You said you did not care. Don't you think you could learn to care all over again? I love you and I should be miserable without you."

"It is useless," said the girl. "I do not care to enter into the engagement again."

"Won't you come, even if you do not care? You will learn to; you are not like other girls."

"You are wrong," she answered sharply. "I am no different from other girls. We are all alike."

He was silent a moment, then he said slowly. "Tell me one thing; I cannot believe it until I hear you say it. Is it possible that you were flirting with me all the time?"

She drew herself up proudly, but did not reply.

"I knew you were not."

"Mistaken again. I was flirting with you all the time," she said deliberately. "My heart was shedding dead leaves."

"I should not have believed it had anybody else sworn it, but, as you say, you are not in the habit of lying. Then this is the end?"

"Yes."

"Very well. Good-by, dear little girl. That is what I have always called you in my heart—dear little girl. In spite of everything I love you. Good-by."

"And," she whispered brokenly to herself, "I am not in the habit of lying."—Boston Post.

Funerals in Peru.

According to social usage, women in Peru cannot attend funerals, and they do not appear at weddings unless they are very intimate friends. When a funeral procession passes through the streets the coffin is carried upon the shoulders of the pallbearers, who are followed by an empty hearse drawn by two, four or six horses, according to the means of the mourners and their desire for display. All the male members of the family and friends of the deceased follow on foot, with a line of empty carriages behind them. As long as they are in the presence of the dead it is considered a proper and necessary evidence of respect to walk. After the body has been committed to the grave those who attend the funeral are brought home in carriages.

ANCIENT YUCATAN.

Its Mysterious Ruins Once the Scene of Human Sacrifices.

It was Chichen—Chichen Itza the magnificent, the Taj Mahal of Central America—and the building we were gazing on was the most wonderful of the ruined group.

As we looked upon it in the moonlight we could not help feeling how awe inspiring this colossal temple, rearing itself 120 feet into the air, must have been to the ancients. On the top of the pyramid still stand the crumbling ruins of a temple. It is reached by a stairway on each side of its four sides, having 120 steps apiece, and contains three rooms, the doorposts of which are carved with the figures of priests, except the one facing eastward, which has large pillars carved into the forms of serpents. The heads of these are turned so that they lie flat upon the top of the pyramid, their eye sockets still bearing traces of the rich green jade that once filled them.

As we sat we pictured to ourselves the strange and barbaric scenes that had here been enacted, for if legends are to be believed it was on these flat-topped serpents' heads that the tyrant priests of the Itzas, majestic in their bejeweled and befeathered robes, tore out the palpitating hearts of their sacrificial victims after slicing open the breasts with a silver knife.

These sacrifices were probably performed in view of thousands of worshippers of the sun deity congregated on the plains below, the heart after it was torn from the membranes being burned as an offering in the inner holy of holies, while the body of the victim rolled down the stone steps to be sacramentally eaten by the people.—World Wide Magazine.

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to cut expenses, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime.

When advertising is divorced, business success becomes failure.

This paper is building up your neighbor's business. He has reasons. He tried advertising and it helped him. It is not an experiment—this paper brings results. Good, hard, convincing results—dollars.

THIS IS CERTAIN

THE PROOF THAT DIXON READERS CANNOT DENY.

What would furnish stronger evidence to the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently.

Home endorsements should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Julius Gottlieb, 418 W. First St., Dixon, Ill., says: "My back pained me for some time and I was often so lame and sore it was hard for me to stoop. The secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and I was then convinced that these organs were disordered. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a box at the Leake Bros. Co.'s drug store and commenced their use. My experience with this remedy was very satisfactory and I am pleased to acknowledge the benefits I received. Doan's Kidney Pills lived up to all the claims made for them in my case." (Statement given April 14, 1909.)

A Lasting Effect.

Mr. Gottlieb was interviewed on January 4, 1910, and he added to the above: "You may continue to publish my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. The relief they gave me has been permanent and I now have no trouble from my kidneys whatever. I have often told other persons of the great merit of Doan's Kidney Pills."

FORECAST OF M. E. CONFERENCE

DR. VAN HORNE DISCUSSES THE THE GREAT GATHERING OF METHODISTS

TO BE HELD IN DIXON SOON

Will Bring More Than 300 Men to Dixon for the Eight Days Session

The following forecast of the session of Rock River Conference was written by Dr. G. R. VanHorne, former presiding elder of Dixon, but now a resident of Rockford, and will be of interest to all Methodists. The article first appeared in one of the Rockford papers:

The seventy-first session of the Rock River annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held at Dixon beginning October 4th. The session will be presided over by Bishop Earl Cranston, whose Episcopal residence is in Washington, D. C. Bishop Cranston was elected to the Episcopacy at Cleveland in 1896. This will be the first time he has presided over the deliberations of Rock River conference, though he is not a stranger to especially the older portion of the conference; as for a number of years he was one of the publishing agents of the Methodist Episcopal church in Chicago, and came in contact with the ministers daily.

The bishop is in the prime of life. When elected to the Episcopacy he was a member of the Colorado conference. He was a friend of Theodore Roosevelt when that great American was president of the United States and more than once have the bishop and Col Roosevelt consulted together on matters of vital importance to the nation.

No One in the Line Light

The atmosphere about the conference this year will be free from the disagreeable odors that were so prevalent and obnoxious at the last session of the conference. Only one member of the conference has played the fool, and he has surrendered his parchments and withdrawn from the ministry; so that when the name of L. A. Hamrick is called, his district superintendent will announce to the conference that "this man has withdrawn from our ministry and church" and the entry will be so made upon the journal and the item will be closed. It is too bad that a minister will so far lose his self-respect as to take his departure from his brethren as a matter of necessity via the back door. However, this method may be preferable, a voluntary going out of the back door quietly, rather than to be drummed out after a trial to the tune of the rogue's march. Some times prudence is the better part of valor.

Possible Changes

In the vicinity of Rockford there are prospects for a change at Cherry Valley, New Milford, Kirkland, Shirland, Durand, Pecaonica, Roscoe, Davis and Dakota. O. J. Simmons, who has been so efficient as pastor at Durand, on account of failing health will retire from the active ministry and will make his home in Rockton.

J. M. Cormack, who was a former pastor at New Milford but now in Chicago, will make a supernumerary relation, his health having completely broken down. He has been, during the summer in Wesley hospital for treatment. W. A. Cross, so well known here, will also retire.

There may be a change at First church, Elgin also at Rochelle. There will be some changes in the Chicago pupils. W. A. Phillips of Auburn Park, will change. And on account of ill health M. C. Hartzell will in all probability retire from the pulpit of South Park avenue. There is a possibility that A. F. Clark of Ottawa street, Joliet, will be given another charge. This also may be the case with W. K. Loofburrow of Lena, Geo. Young of Van Brooklin, anticipates retiring from the active work, and will reside in Byron, where he has purchased a home. J. E. DeLong will change from Kirkland.

Rev. Fred D. Stone will be asked to be allowed to remain at Dixon another year by his congregation and the request will no doubt be granted.

No change has been anticipated in any of the churches in Rockford, excepting Centennial, Ray Harker and E. C. Lumsden will both remain in Freeport. The same is expected of Dr. Pierce of Belvidere and J. A. Matlack of Harvard.

The above photograph was taken at Wheaton, Minn., last Fall when twelve or fifteen representative farmers went up to Traverse County to buy a "HOME OF THEIR OWN."

You can do the same thing if you are able to rent a farm in Illinois.

Don't be a little spoke in a big wheel when you can be a whole wheel yourself.

Let us tell you how you can pay for a farm with your crops in five years' time.
